DAILY UNION VEDETE.

MONDAY MORNING, MAY 2, 1864.

The Coming Presidential Campaign.

The Union Convention which is to meet in June ensuing, at Baltimore, has to select a candidate for the Presidency of the United States, to serve for four years from March 4, 1865, and the nearer approach to the meeting gives indications of designs that we hardly thought possible to exist in the minds of right thinking loyal men under such circumstances as those in which the country now finds itself.

There is no doubt whatever in the mind of anybody, but that President Lincoln, if nominated, will receive the support of the Union men of the country almost as masses; certainly his majority will be larger as to popular vote, than that which he received in 1860. The people are, in short, thoroughly satisfied of his integrity, and believe, after an opportunity of testing him such as they have had in the case of no other President since Washington, that he honestly means and seeks after the welfare of the entire country; but there have sprung up of late quite a number of other aspirants, whose friends (the polite phrase for those who expect office by this means) are leaving no stone unturned for the purpose of opening up a clear track for their respective candidates. It is observable, too, that all this is done very quietly, and that amid all the reasons assigned and arguments offered, the friends of the candidates opposed to the President have not a word to say against the honesty or consistency of the present incumbent—a fact which even under ordinary circumstances would be a new phase in American political life; but which, when we take into consideration the gigantic nature of the enterprise in which we have been engaged for the last three years, the exciting nature of the question at issue, and the heat and acrimony of the passions elicited, is unparalleled in the history of the world.

Since the Secretary of the Treasury, actuated by principles of pure patriotism, and unwilling to introduce anything like partisanship in the coming campaign, obliged his friends to withdraw his name from the contest—the opponents of the President have been doing all in their power to introduce such elements of discord into the Presidential campaign as may, if possible, prevent the re-election of the President. They suggest through their various organs the one term principle, and insist that this has become the settled policy of all parties in the country—and they have made it their great aim to postpone the time of meeting of the Baltimore Convention, hoping by procrastination of the nomination, the better to marshal whatever elements of dissatisfaction exist, and thus wield them against the nomination of Mr. Lincoln. They, and everybody else, full well know, that a nomination by that Convention is, as things now stand, about tantamount to an election to the Presidency, and hence their eagerness to stave off the Convention. Mr. Chase would not allow himself to be used as they fondly hoped, for the purpose of scattering firebrands among the friends of the Union, and the opponents of Mr. Lincoln are not yet prepared to say around whom they may rally with the best show for success.

All the indications are, however, that they cannot with all their eagerness and effort, put off the Convention, and so far as we yet know there seems no likelihood of bringing success fully any candidate before it, who will be at all received by the people with the satisfaction with which the nomination of President Lincoln will be hailed by loyal men everywhere.

"A house divided against itself, cannot stand." We have the highest authority for the truth of this doctrine, and when we reflect upon the efforts (open and clandestine) now making for the purpose of putting Union men at variance among themselves, we cannot, under the present circumstances of the country, refrain from entertaining grievous doubts of the patriotism and devotion to country of those engaged in making them—while we have at the same time the satisfaction of believing that all these efforts will be powerless in the end, and that President Lincoln will be for the next (we trust, peaceful) years, what he has been for the last Presidential term—our honest, straightforward and incorruptible President.

Visit from a Hero. Type.—We had on Saturday the pleasure of a visit from Mr. John G. Church, one of the Proprietors of the Daily Virginia Union, Virginia City, N. T. Mr. Church is en route for the East, and leaves Salt Lake City to-day, as Delegate from Nevada Territory to the Union Convention at Baltimore. It need hardly be stated that Mr. Church is strongly in favor of the re-nomination of President Lincoln, and will use his utmost efforts for the promotion of that object. He will return this way in July, when we hope to congratulate him upon the accomplishment of Lincoln's nomination.

MUSTER AND REVIEW IN CAMP.—The usual Muster and Review took place at Camp Douglas on Saturday, Col. Robert Pollock, 3rd Infy., C. V., Commanding Post, being the mustering officer. The companies now at the Post are Co's A, C, D, F, G and K, all of the 3rd Infy., C. V. There are some few members of the 2nd Cav., C. V., and 1st Cav., N. Y., present at the Post on detached service. The companies mustered presented a fine appearance, and their quarters were inspected and found in good order—neat and clean.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27th.

General markets for foreign goods somewhat excited by the advices of increase on all duties.

Great demand for money to pay duties; nearly $200,000 were paid at the Custom House to-day; $75,000 by one firm.

Steele Bros. of Santa Cruz county, have engaged to make a cheese for the benefit of the Sanitary Fair in this city, to weigh 3,500 pounds.

Wheat and flour have advanced.

The Chinese merchants have rescued thirty girls from the hands of kidnappers (who sold them here) and will return them to China.

Large quantities of powder for mining purposes have been surreptitiously shipped to the Colorado river in Arizona.

[SPECIAL TO THE DAILY UNION VEDETE.]

PHILADELPHIA, April 29.

The Union State Convention assembled yesterday, and adopted a resolution that the electors at large be instructed to support Lincoln for the Presidency, and oppose all efforts to postpone the Baltimore Convention, and that one of the hardest blows that could be inflicted on the rebels would be the certainty of the re-election of Lincoln.

MADISON, INDIANA, April 29.

A gang of guerrillas crossed the Indiana line night before last, and burned a trading boat a short distance below this city, stealing a flock of sheep and some cattle.

WASHINGTON, April 29.

A statement is made that Washburne's amendment to the tax bill, taxing stocks of whisky on hand, can not be enforced, as there is no machinery for its enforcement. The bill, however, provides in one of its sections that the Secretary of the Treasury shall have power to collect any tax imposed by the bill, and to provide machinery, if it is lacking.

NEW YORK, April 29th.

Special to the Commercial says the enemy on our immediate front have for twenty-three days past been very active, as if anticipating an advance. Rebel deserters say Lee is bringing up forces from Charleston, Florida, Lynchburg and other points.

CAIRO, April 29th.

Mississippi from Orleans 23d. The Constitutional Convention is still in session. The Committee on Education unanimously reported in favor of the establishment of public schools for all children without regard to color. The schools for colored children are to be separate and distinct from those for white children.

Brownsville dates to the 16th say nothing important.

The Era says passengers from Red river report that an impression prevails that the rebels will do all in their power to avoid a general engagement, and as our army is not prepared for another advance there will not probably be another engagement for some time to come.

WASHINGTON, April 29th.

In the Senate, Nesmith called up the House bill to establish a Branch Mint at Carson City, Nevada, and Dalles City, Oregon. An amendment striking out Carson City, was adopted and the bill passed.

CHICAGO, April 30th.

Particulars of the capture of Camden, Ark., by Gen. Steele have been received. Crossing the Little Missouri at a point menacing Shreveport, Camden and Washington, Gen. Steele by his movements deluded Price into the belief that he intended to attack Shreveport. Price hastened to Prairie De-Hohn, dug rifle pits and threw up earthworks, when Gen. Steele executed a sudden flank movement which caused Price to retreat towards Washington. Having placed Price on the arc of a circle, Steele moved directly towards Camden. Discovering his mistake, Price concentrated his cavalry and with Marmaduke and Dockery on the flank and rear, hoped so to embarrass Steele that his infantry could not gain the fortifications of Camden. Steele pressed on, fighting for seventy-one miles and entered Camden on the 15th. Nine fortifications of great strength were taken and a large quantity of sugar, molasses, pork, etc. Price had burned the cotton for miles around.

CHICAGO, April 30th.

Blair's case was debated at length in the House yesterday.

Stevens in the session of last night, offered a substitute for the bill to provide for a republican government in the States overthrown by the rebellion. The substitute provides that seceded States when conquered, shall be regarded as Territories and represented in Congress as such.

NEW YORK, April 30th.

Special to the Times says: Officers from the front last night, profess to believe that active operations will not be commenced just now. The enemy are again busily engaged throwing up more earthworks, digging rifle pits and covering various fords along the line of the Rapidan. Their pickets have been strengthened along the whole front and extended further down the river towards our left. Fighting is again resumed; skirmishes take place almost daily on the outposts. There is no truth in the report of a concentration of a large force in the Shenandoah valley near Front Royal. All the rebel forces in the valley is Early's division of twenty corps, which but lately lost a number two to one. Early's force is augmented by the irregular cavalry under Imboden, while Meade's more men do not in all amount to a hundred.

The World's special says: It is rumored from Fortress Monroe, that Little Washington was captured by the rebels on Monday, and that the investment of Newbern would immediately follow.

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., April 29th.

We learn from a gentleman who arrived from Decatur to-day, that Roddy's rebels are still in that neighborhood, but have made no further demonstrations recently. Gen. Dodge is on the alert and it is now thought impossible that the rebels will attack. A rebel force also recently made its appearance in the south of Tennessee, some miles from Huntsville. All is comparatively quiet hereabouts, but we expect a forward movement ere long.

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 30th.

A detachment of the 45th Ky., attacked the rebels in Bathel county. Killed four, captured sixteen men, twenty-four horses, and twenty-eight stand of arms. The force then pursued and defeated Everett's command, killed two and captured thirty-five.

HAMBURG, April 30th.

Europa from Liverpool 16th, Queenstown 17th: The Conference holds its first meeting at London on the 20th.

WASHINGTON, April 30th.

Advices from the army of the Potomac state that a brigade of cavalry under Gen. Devin went out Thursday to Madison Court House on reconnaissance and found a party of thirty rebels in the place, most of whom were captured. No force of the enemy was discovered anywhere in that vicinity, although it was currently reported they had crossed the Rapidan and were moving toward our right. The expedition returned without loss.

NEW YORK, April 30th.

Newbern Times of the 27th says: On Friday last a large rebel force appeared in front of Little Washington but their lines were soon broken, and, it is said, a vigorous stampede towards Richmond commenced.

Special to the Post says nothing new from the army of the Potomac. The rebel army is quiet.

The new fifty per cent extra duty on imported goods went into operation at 1 o'clock this p. m. The merchants who had come forward in extraordinary numbers with their gold and invoices after the new tariff bill was introduced into Congress, were from the hour mentioned, quite indifferent as to the withdrawal of their goods, and the press of business came to a close.

Receipts at the Custom House for duties during the present week reached the immense figure of nearly fifty million dollars, almost exclusively in coin.

IS MAN A RUMINATING ANIMAL?—The New Bedford Mercury is responsible for the following:

One of our dentists has met with a man who ruminates like an ox—all his food in one time, after being swallowed, being returned to the mouth and re-masticated. This is done without any exercise of the patient's will, and is attended with the same quiet enjoyment that marks the countenance of a ruminating cow. The case is to be reported in the Dental Cosmos, and we may refer to it again. It is certainly a most extraordinary physiological fact.

CARSON MINT.—A correspondent of the Virginia Union, in a letter dated at Washington on the 17th of March last, says that the House Committee of Ways and Means have reported a bill to repeal the act providing for the establishment of a Branch Mint at Carson City, and recommend instead, a United States Assay Office. The reason assigned for this course are, that it is difficult to get a sufficient number of artisans qualified to perform the services in the various departments of a mint, and also because of the expensiveness of transporting acids to Nevada Territory.

A CHAPLAIN'S PRAYER.—A loyal chaplain thus invokes the wrath of the Almighty upon traitors: "Oh! God, wouldst thou cause earthquakes to shake them; almosms to scorch them; volcanoes to pour out their burning fountains upon them; Egyptian darkness to blind them; and all the host of Egyptian plagues to torment them. And oh! Lord, wouldst Thou cause that tongue to cling to the roof of the mouth that plots, and that arm to be paralyzed that executes treason. Overturn all their wicked and treasonable designs, and, in brief, play hell with them generally!"

CLERICAL JOKE.—The Bishop of Carlisle is credited with a joke. It is said that a young clergyman, not far from Penrith, being on the eve of marriage, and not wishing to trouble any of his brethren, wrote to the bishop, inquiring, as he had already published the bans from his own pulpit, could he marry himself? His lordship made no long appeal to laws ecclesiastical, but at once capped the query with another, "Could you bury yourself?"

Dr. Chapman, whose remedy for paralysis is the application of ice to the spine, professes also to have discovered that by the application of heat to the spinal cord, he can successfully lower the action of the heart. The doctor has practiced successfully in St. Thomas' and Guy's Hospitals, and his works are published by Trubner of London.

A lawyer was once pleading a case in Court before a full bench. The Chief Justice whispered in his neighbor's ear, but loud enough to be heard by the whole Court: "I'll wager he lies!" The lawyer, not at all disconcerted, drew his purse from his pocket, and laying it on the bar, exclaimed: "Put down your money—I take the bet!"

PRIVILEGE.—A lady having spoken sharply to Dr. Parr, apologized by saying, "it is the privilege of woman to talk nonsense." The doctor replied, "No, no, it is not their privilege, but their infirmity. Ducks would walk if they could, but nature suffers them only to waddle."

Write your name by kindness, love and mercy, on the hearts of the people you come in contact with year by year, and you will never be forgotten.

INDEPENDENT JOURNALIST.—The London correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette says:

"I had the pleasure of a long conversation with John Bright the other day, who holds the most unalterable faith in the near approach of the end of the rebellion. He is also very warm in his desire for Mr. Lincoln's re-election—thinks it would produce a grand effect in England, by convincing the people of the solid purpose of the American people, and quoted the words of a distinguished friend of the Southrons, a member of the House of Commons that such re-election would be the heaviest blow that the North could inflict on the South. He does not care much for the criticisms on Mr. Lincoln's slowness, though he admits that a change of cabinet should be demanded; for the rest he says, "Mr. Lincoln is like a waiter in a large eating-house, where all the bells are ringing at once; he cannot serve all at once, and so some grumblers are to be expected." It may not have been generally known that it was through Mr. Bright's influence that young Rubery, taken among those who were going out on the ship Chapman, at San Francisco, as privateers, was pardoned. The family lives at Birmingham. One of the daughters was considered hopelessly insane, and had been so several months; but on hearing that Mr. Lincoln had pardoned her brother, she began to recover, and is now nearly well. Mr. Bright was much amused by a letter he had just received from a confederate in London, who, wishing to go to the House of Commons, wrote to him for an order of admission. Mr. Bright sent him the order and said, "though I am against this rebellion, I am not against you of the South; on the contrary, it is as much for your sakes as for that of others, that I wish to see your efforts to break up the Republic, and your criminal institutions crushed."

ESSENCE OF JAMAICA GINGER.
This valuable preparation containing in a highly concentrated form all the properties of the Jamaica Ginger, has become one of the most popular domestic remedies, and all diseases of the stomach and digestive organs.

As a tonic, it will be found a most valuable remedy for recovering from debility, whether produced by fever or otherwise, for whilst it imparts to the system all the glow and vigor that can be produced by a tonic, it is entirely free from the reaction which usually follows the use of such a kind.
It is also an excellent remedy for females who suffer from difficult menstruation, giving almost immediate relief to the spasms that so frequently accompany this period.
It gives immediate relief to nausea, caused by riding in a railroad car, or by sea-sickness or other causes. It is also valuable as an external application for gonorrhea, rheumatism, neuralgia, etc. It is sold by all druggists. Ask for Redington & Co.'s Essence of Jamaica Ginger, as some other in pure and reliable quality.

[SPECIAL TO THE DAILY UNION VEGETABLE.]
NEW YORK, April 29th.

A special to the Times from Washington, says: Facts showing the determined energy with which the rebels are concentrating troops in Va., continue to multiply.

The President received a dispatch from Gen. Butler stating his belief that the rebel forces will be of force been withdrawn from North Carolina, hastening to reinforce Lee.

So far as heard from up to 11 o'clock to-night, nothing of much importance has transpired at the front. Preparations are at a stand still. Indications are, that a collision cannot long be avoided.

Burnside left yesterday by special conveyance to join his command, and the signal corps that has been stationed here through the winter, left camp today en route for the army.

It is now generally understood here that Lee will endeavor to bring on a fight without leaving his entrenchments.

A letter received to-day from Admiral Porter, pronounces Banks' recent expedition, a disastrous failure. Besides over thirty pieces of artillery, a large quantity of small arms; several hundred wagons, the first class gunboat Eastport and nearly four thousand prisoners, have been lost; and in addition, the Paymaster's safe containing one million dollars in greenbacks was captured by the enemy. The reports in circulation that banks will be superceded by Sikes, are untrue. Generals Franklin and Stone who are under the imputation of having through neglect and carelessness, contributed greatly to the disaster in Louisiana, will be relieved, and probably court martialled.

The World's special says, it is now understood that Newbern and Washington, N. C., are safe.

New York, April 29th.
The Herald has letters from the fleet off Wilmington, dated 22d, stating that Beauregard went through Wilmington on the 21st with a large number of troops on his way to Richmond. The enemy are sending all the men they can to the rebel Capitol.

A Yorktown letter dated 26th, states that rebel deserters report considerable panic at Richmond and Petersburg, the rebels being momentarily in expectation of the appearance of one or more strong Union columns; many of the inhabitants are moving south. The impression gains generally that the present campaign will eventuate in a Federal success and the fall of Richmond.

Arrived, ship Lizzie Moses from San Francisco.

St. Johns, April 29.
A Vicksburg letter, of the 23rd, says the steamer Lucy brings news from Red River that no more fighting occurred up to the 20th, but the rebels were reported marching on Grand Ecore on the 22nd. Our troops are going out to meet them. Our army is believed to be securely entrenched at Grand Ecore, on both sides of the river.
